FANNIE'S FLIRTATIONS

AND THE MESS THEY GOT HER INTO.

Engaging Herself in Two Swains and Ap-pubing the Same Wedding Day For Both--Superstition of Bride-grooms.

BALTIMORE, Dec. 11.--Fannie Zimmerman, daughter of a contractor, has long been noted for her beauty. There were many suitors for her hand, and among them were two who seemed to meet with equal favor. One was Frank J. Hallen, of Uniontown, Penn., and the other Henry R. Hammond, of Petersburg, Va. Both are highly connected and estimable young men. Miss Zimmerman accepted both, received rings from both, and was indiscreet enough to set the same day for both weddings. In the morning both lovers arrived in the city to claim their bride. The Pennsylvania man arrived at the house first. Just as they were leaving, up drove the Southerner. Taking in the situation, he stuck a handful of bills under his driver's nose and told him to earn them. Off like a flash started the team, and down the street after the fleeing lovers thundered the fitted one.

As Hallen was passing the Western Police Station he stopped his carriage, ran in and told the magistrate that he was being pursued by a man who had threatened his life. A warrant was issued, and just as he drove off, the police captured his pursuer's carriage and arrested its unwholly occupant. He was locked up, in spite of his protestation. While in his cell he acted like a crazy man. In the meantime the Pennsylvania man triumphantly taken his bride in a clergyman's parsonage. The knot in short order. Feeling secure of his treasure he returned to the police station and appeared against his rival. When the net he was with difficulty that the police held back the defiant rival, so powerful were his exertions to free himself and get at his enemy. The charge of threatening to kill was withdrawn and the charge of threatening to assault was preferred against him. Hammond was then released on $500 bail. He was kept in the station until Hallen was able to get safely away. Much sympathy is felt for the young man, while Mr. Zimmerman is indignant at the conduct of his daughter in the matter.

A DAY'S DOINGS AT THE CAPITAL.

An Important Measure Introduced By Representative Townsend.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 11.--A decision was rendered by the United States Supreme Court Monday in the contested case of Stephen Percy Ellis et al., co-defendants of Sarah Ann Dorsey, against Jefferson Davis, to recover possession of certain real and personal property left to the latter by Mrs. Dorsey at her death. The judgment of the Court below in favor of Mr. Davis is affirmed.

Mr. Frank Sperry, Private Secretary to Secretary Folger, says that the Secretary is not seriously ill and that he will be out in a few days.

Among the most important measures introduced in the House Monday was a joint resolution introduced by Representative Townsend, of Illinois, authorizing the President, during the recess of Congress, to prohibit the importation of any foreign merchandise into the United States which he, upon the advice of experts, may consider injurious to the public health. The resolution, Mr. Townsend says, is intended to place the President of the United States upon an equal footing with the administration of Foreign Governments, who have prohibited certain classes of American products from landing upon their shores. The bill introduced by Representative King, of Louisiana, to provide for the improvement of the Mississippi from Cairo to the mouth of the river, proposes an appropriation of $5,000,000 for the purpose, to be expended in accordance with the plans and recommendations of the Mississippi River Commission.

Representative Skinner, of New York, will introduce a bill for a special delivery stamp, not to exceed ten cents. The object is to secure prompt delivery of newspaper mail and matter of that class received after the last general delivery at night. He will also introduce bills extending the free delivery system to cities of over 2,000 inhabitants; to retire the trade dollar at its full value; to repeal the clause of the silver dollar act making coinage of a fixed amount compulsory, and to authorize the Secretary of the Treasury to invest surplus revenue in four and four-and-a-half per cent bonds not yet matured. Also to fix the minimum weight of letters at one ounce and make postage on drop letters one cent.

RECENT TOPICS IN THE OLD WORLD.

The Status of the Sudan Trouble--Egypt.

Fate of Launched in W.

CAIRO, Dec. 11.--The commander of the forces at Suakin on December first, sent out a force of 500 Sudanese and Black with twenty horsemen and 300 Bazarb cavalrymen. Mahmoud Taber remained to defend the town. They met a number of the enemy at Tannah where a battle was fought with a result disastrous to the Egyptian forces. The Bashi-Bazouks acted in a most cowardly manner, and a rout followed. Two officers, fifteen horsemen and ten of the Sudanese and Blacks had at the date of the dispatch reached Suakin. They report that the enemy, as well as themselves, lost heavily, and it is believed that Osman, the close friend of El Mahdi, who was in command of the opposing force, was killed. Strong fears are entertained that the garrisons at Toko and at Singat have either been starved to death or have been brutally massacred. The latest official announcement is that 500 men from the force of Baker Pasha have arrived at Suakin, where reinforcements have been anxiously awaited.

LONDON, Dec. 11.--The recent disasters in the Sudan have led to a change in the commandant. Mahmoud Taber has been suspended by Baker Pasha, who hopes to get his troops into Suakin before they have been overwhelmed, or before the section of El Mahdi's force which has persistently attacked the place for a fortnight can effect its capture. The officer who commanded the 500 men of Baker Pasha's command and who followed the small party of soldiers which escaped from slaughter at the battle of Tannah December 2, into Suakin, bore with him the order recalling Mahmoud Pasha as soon as the change could be arranged without danger. Meanwhile Mahmoud retains the command under instructions to remain inactive until the arrival of Baker Pasha and to cooperate with him. It is believed the change has been made in accordance with General Baker's strong opposition to making Suakin the center of operations in the Sudan, as has been intended by the Turkish General.

DUBLIN, Dec. 11.--In the Smith murder trial McKoon, of the fourteen persons originally indicted for conspiracy to murder, but who subsequently informed and was granted immunity, testified that the Dublin invincibles had founded a society whose object was murder. The headquarters of this society was at Westmeath. A list of victims was compiled and certain members assigned to the work of putting out of the way such persons as were from time to time condemned by the society. McKoon's testimony implicates Elliott and others in this conspiracy. The cross-examination weakened his story somewhat, but to the most important points he stoutly adhered. McKoon was still in the witness stand when the case adjourned and his examination will be resumed.

LONDON, Dec. 10.--The Evening News gives credence to the report that Mr. Parnell will decline to accept the testimonial contributed to him personally. It is, however, understood that he will suggest some disposition of the fund which will, in his opinion, best serve Irish interests, and, at the same time, give personal aid to the impoverished classes for emigration or other purposes.

DUBLIN, Dec. 10.--Alexander O'Gorman, a brother of Major O'Gorman, was convicted of having assaulted a constable. The trial, which took place at the Munster Assizes, attracted much attention on account of the high family connections of the accused, and because what is regarded as a severe sentence. He was sentenced to hard labor in prison for one year.

LONDON, Dec. 11.--The Times says the gift to Parnell is an expression of the dominant feeling in Ireland. Parnell, though an utterly ordinary man, is a good tactician, cool and unscrupulous. It was through these qualities that he succeeded in undermining the influence of Shaw and Butts.

Presidential Nominations.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.--The President has sent to the Senate a large number of nominations, including a long list of first and second assistant engineers of the revenue service, receivers of public moneys, Indian agents and registers of land offices. Also the list of collectors of customs and internal revenue appointed during the recess, together with other appointments of more or less importance, including the following: Edwin H. Novin, Jr., to be naval officer at Philadelphia; George E. Leland, Surveyor of Customs, Philadelphia; John W. Cobbs, Surveyor of Customs, at Paducah, Ky.; Assistant Appraisers, Edward S. Fowler and Cyrus A. Stevens, District of New York; William H. Grittan, San Francisco; Andrew J. Mason, of New York, to be Superintendent of the United States Assay Office, at New York; Benjamin T. Maletti, of New York, Melter and Refiner of the United States Assay Office, at New York; Theodore Poole to be Pension Agent at Syracuse, New York; Matthew R. Barr and Henry Ward to be Indian Inspectors. The nominations also included the appointment made in the United States Treasury's Office during the recess, and also that of Benjamin Butterworth, of Ohio, to be Commissioner of Patents. The Senate, in executive session, confirmed the nomination of Waller G. Johnson, of Indiana, to be Postmaster General.

GRANT SUE.

His War Horse Brings Out a Peaceable Milkmilk.

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.--U. S. Grant, Jr., will tomorrow be made the defendant in a suit for $100.00 damages, instituted by John Bailey, a milkman of Westchester County, on account of the alleged remarkable behavior of one of the Arabian stallions which the Khedive gave to General Grant. This stallion has been kept on the defendant's farm at North Salem. Mr. Bailey's complaint recites that Grant's horse drove the stallion to the Salem postoffice tied the bridle to a post and went for letters. The stallion became unruly, and freeing himself, reared just as Mr. Bailey was passing with a milk wagon, and planted his hoof on Bailey's chest, knocking him out of the wagon. The stallion then upset the wagon, spilling $25 worth of milk, and then attacked Bailey's horse. The horse fled in fright, and the complaint alleges that the stallion returned to Mr. Bailey and stamped upon his back and chest until he was caught and pulled away. Mr. Bailey alleges that he was laid up in bed for three months, and may never recover. It was reported that Grant had offered Bailey $500 in payment for all damages, but this had been refused.

The Tobacco Tax.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.--There are indications that the tobacco people intend to ask for the removal of the entire tax on tobacco this session. One of the most successful of last session's tobacco lobbyists is here to-day looking over the field, and says he thinks the effort will probably be made, although he has not yet made a canvass of the House to see whether it can be carried.

If it can be carried by the Republicans and high tariff Democrats, the tobacco trade will probably ask a renewal; if there is doubt about the success of the effort, they will probably ask nothing.

A Bank Closes Out.

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.--Reports received here state that the Manufacturer's Bank, of Amsterdam, N. Y., has closed its doors. It is said the depositors will be paid in full, and that the shareholders will lose little, if anything. The bank was chartered in 1874 and changed from a National to a State Bank in August, 1882, with a capital of $50,000.

Love Undelivered His Blind.

TORONTO, Dec. 11.--Traveling Ridout, a well-known barrister of this city, mysteriously disappeared two months ago. His body has been found in High Park, with a revolver in hand. It is supposed the rejection of his suit by a lady unhinged his mind.

Condition of the River.

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 11.--Pittsburgh, 5 feet 11 inches and falling; Oil City, 4 feet 9 inches and falling; Brownsville, 3 feet and stationary; Lock Number Four, 6 feet 6 inches and rising; Rice's Landing, 4 feet 11 inches and rising.

BERLIN, Dec. 11.--The Zentner or Clerical party in the Landtag will consent to the temporary postponement of the question of revival of the three constitutional articles advocated by the May law.

THAT CURIOUS SCANDAL.

THE TRUE INWARENESS REVEALED.

How Reverend Tyng Became Agent of a Stock-Gambling Woman--State-ments From an Alleged Mutual Friend.

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.--An intimate friend of Rev. John O. Bache told a reporter all the circumstances connecting Bache with the correspondence between Rev. Stephen H. Tyng, Jr., and the lady mentioned in Sunday's World. He also stated the contents of the letters on which so high a price has been put by the blackmailers, who still have possession of them. "These letters," said he, "while not compromising either of the parties so far as their personal reputation is concerned, reflect on Tyng in his relations as a clergyman preaching against the worship of mammon, and on the lady as being a victim of a mania for speculating in Wall street. In a word, they are of a financial nature. The lady in question was an ardent speculator in stocks and bonds, and Tyng was the person through whom she indulged in her passion for stock gambling. Her letters to him contained instructions how to invest her money, and inclosed checks drawn to his order. The answers informed her of the success or failure of her ventures, and contained checks for her winnings, when she made any."

"Do you know how they were stolen?"

"The whole package was stolen by a male servant."

"What induced the lady to choose Tyng as her agent?"

"Her extreme friendship for him and for his wife."

"Why did he assume so risky a position?"

"Probably out of charity. He saw the lady was infatuated with Wall street, and thought it best to stand as guard between her and the sharks. His wife was aware of his relations with the lady."

THE DEADLY DIME NOVEL.

Milwaukee Incendiary Fires Caused by a Gang of Boys.

MILWAUKEE, Dec. 11.--There is great excitement over the arrest of Bennie West, a son of Governor F. A. West, a prominent member of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Road, Charles Millard, son of a leading grocer, and Jos. Moffett, son of the proprietor of a large marble yard, all charged with starting the recent fires in different sections of the city. All are under fifteen years of age. They had devalued the contents of five novels, and formed a league which met in the public library, had Chief Knights and Sub-Knights, and wrote and mailed threatening letters, and had planned a regular cowley campaign for the present winter. They confided having started all the recent fires to see the fun. One of the places fired belonged to Moffett's father.

A SLIPPERY CUSTOMER.

Devious Devices of Mr. Henry Myers.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Dec. 11.--The prolonged absence of Mr. Henry Myers, who for two years has held the position of clerk in the U. S. Naval rendezvous, provokes much adverse criticism. In 1881 he fell in love with Lena Harris, a belle in Hebrew circles. Shortly after their marriage he ran in debt for board, pawned his household furniture, and removed to a cheap hotel. On November 20, on a plea of going to Washington on official business, he left his wife at her parents' residence, and he has not since been seen. It now transpires that he is heavily in debt. It is alleged that an overfondness for the gaming table wrought his ruin. Detectives who are seeking his present whereabouts report that he has another wife in Baltimore, and that he has sailed for London, where he holds from his real name being Blankin.

Distinguished Horse Thief.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 11.--Helen Anderson, who is charged in connection with a Nellie Watson with the larceny of a horse and carriage, valued at $35, the property of John Frye, was brought up from prison and given a seat in front of the dock in the Court House. Helen is a stranger in this city. She says her right name is Crawford, and her father is a Judge of the Supreme Court of Maine and lives at Portland. She has a brother who is a Member of Congress. A lawyer in this city who became interested in her case received a letter from Renel Snell, official stenographer of the Supreme Judicial Court of Maine, dated at Portland, which confirms the fact that her right name is Lee Crawford. Counselors Walters and Graham have interested themselves in behalf of Miss Anderson. It is claimed that had company had led her astray. The Judge postponed the trial in order to ascertain whether the girl's story is true or not.

THE EMMA BOND CASE.

Miss Bond Expected to Give Her Testimony in Full.

HILLSBORO, Ill., Dec. 11.--The case of the people vs. John Montgomery et al on a charge of rape, was read from the criminal docket Monday morning, and counsel for the prosecution immediately made a motion to postpone the trial until to-day, owing to the absence of Judge Thornton. Emma Bond's mental and physical condition is much improved, and she will be able to give her testimony in full. A week ago an attempt was made by unknown parties to force an entrance into Miss Bond's room at one o'clock at night for the purpose of abduction, but the would-be abductors were frightened away by her screams. The window blinds were broken and tracks were discovered on the ground outside next morning.

HOUNDED BY GAMBLERS.

A Strange Story at Monte Carlo, Italy and Suicide.

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.--Detective Pryor of the Fifth Avenue Hotel, says that Charles A. Matthews, the young petroleum broker who shot himself at the Colorado Hotel, in Philadelphia, last month, was the victim of leading gamblers of the country. About two years ago Matthews, who had a strong strong passion for play, won $125,000 at Monte Carlo, and he was followed across the ocean by card sharps, who got $50,000 of the money on the steamer. On a subsequent trip to Europe he lost $15,000, and kept on playing until he found himself almost ruined. "I'll go to Philadelphia," he said to the detective, "to make or break. I can get a tolerably fair game there." It only took him four days to lose all he had, and he ended his bad luck by putting a bullet in his brain.

CONKLING'S GRAY HAIRS.

He Speaks in Court of His "Troubles Great and Small."

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.--The reference case of Peter Marie and others against C. K. Garrison, involving 30,000 shares of Missouri and Pacific Railroad stock, was continued here to-day. After the recess Roscoe Conkling, who appeared for the plaintiffs, asked Mr. Clinton, who appeared for the defendant, for permission to have entered on the record the latter's willingness to allow a certain opinion to go on the official record. In giving his consent Mr. Clinton remarked that if that was all that Mr. Conkling had had to trouble him his hairs would not be so gray. "Pardon me, Brother Clinton," replied Mr. Conkling, "but I have undergone more troubles, great and small, than have ever entered into your experience. Why you seem to forget a letter that even you wrote a few years ago, and had published in the World, wherein you said that you would put me in jail, after the election." Mr. Clinton denied having written such a letter.

A STRANGE STORY.

Of a Trump Starving Under a Caved in Hay Stack.

LACROSSE, Wis., Dec. 11.--Boys playing about a hay-stack near this city found beneath it a man in a horrible state of emaciation. The poor wretch was extricated almost dead and barely able to speak in a whisper. He said his name was Christian Anderson, that he crawled under the hay-stack on the night of November 17 to keep warm and the stack caved in upon him. He struggled to extricate himself but could not. He cried out but no one heard him. He was sent to the County Hospital apparently dying. It is stated that several loads of hay were lately removed from the stack but he was too weak to attract attention or was unconscious at the time.

An effort will be made to induce the next Legislature to form a new county out of parts of Breckenridge, Grayson and Ohio counties.

At Lexington the Circuit Court awarded Miss Georgia Richardson $300 in her suit against John P. Haines for $10,000 damages for slandering her.

The Supreme Court of Iowa has decided that when the ordinance of a town provides that licenses to sell liquor may be issued by the proper authorities, the repeal of such ordinances operates also to revoke the licenses granted under it. The license to sell liquor, says the Court, is not a contract between the State and the person licensed, clothing such persons with vested rights which it would be unconstitutional afterward to divest them of, but it is merely a permission to do that which, under the circumstances, would be a public offense; and such permission may be withdrawn at the pleasure of the authorities originally granting it.

EARLY IN 1884 an effort is to be made in Chicago to establish a training school of high character. It will discard foreign and ancient languages, but will give particularly careful instruction in mechanical drawing and in the practical use of tools. In other words it will combine the scientific instruction of the school with the experience and aptness that are usually acquired only in the shop. Though, as we understand this matter, no one trade is thoroughly taught, a foundation is laid for the comparatively easy mastery of more than one trade; and united with this eminently military plan is an extreme care for the moral purity and workmanlike zeal of pupils. The enterprise seems to be admirable.

The following is from the Covington Commonwealth, and every word of it is good sound sense: It is one of the unaccountable things that in Kentucky no provision has been made by law for properly advertising valuable real estate offered for sale by Sheriffs and Commissioners. The law requires nothing more than a few written or printed notices—usually part printed, part written—to be stuck up at certain points. They are obscure, and attract very little attention. The law is absurd. It is manifestly to the interest of all concerned—more especially the debtor—that the property should bring at least its fair value. That can only be secured by adequate notice; and that notice can best be given by publication of the sale in a newspaper. The Kentucky law regulating Sheriff's and Commissioners' sales may have answered the purpose fifty years ago. It is long out of date. Now everybody looks to the newspapers for all such information. The law as it stands is in the interest of land speculators. The more limited the notice of the sale the better for them.

ABERDEEN ITEMS.

Mr. R. C. Brookover, wife and son, Loudon, leave to-morrow evening for Cincinnati.

Miss Hannah Davis has been visiting her relatives, the Misses Fulton, at Harrodsburg, the past week.

Mr. Charles Hubbard and wife, of Cincinnati, will visit the parents of the latter at "Idylwild," this place.

Mrs. Bricker, of this place, will leave in a few weeks to visit her daughter, Mrs. Porter Fryer, of West Virginia.

Give Mr. Roe Hutton a call if you want anything in the Christmas line. He is a worthy citizen and deserves the patronage.

The elegant wedding of Miss Alice Gray to Mr. Charles Gardner will take place on the 17th inst., at the home of the bride's parents.

Miss Julia Carey, the accomplished daughter of Major Carey, has returned to her home in Ripley, after a pleasant visit to friends in this place.

Madame Rumor has been quite lively the past few days. It would take the whole newspaper to publish the idle gossip that is going the rounds.

Mr. A. T. Roswell and wife have returned from the city. Mr. Roswell brought with him a very handsome line of goods. Call and examine.

Master Peyton Wheeler is clerking during the busy weeks for Bradford & Marvin. They have the most complete stock of Christmas goods in the town.

We regret to lose two of our most prominent business men, Messrs. Nelford and Gilbert, who will hereafter reside in Hillsboro, Ky. Their many friends wish them success.

Our reporter spoke of a cyclone passing over Ripley last night. A few more cyclones will soon destroy the beauty and purity of our little village.

The marriage of Miss Caroline Heide, eldest daughter of Mr. L. C. Heide, to Mr. Martin Hill, of Lancaster, O., will take place this evening at five o'clock. The bride party will leave for their future home at Lancaster the same evening.

We are delighted to have back again our talented musician, Mr. Frank Ellis. He has been for the past few months touring singer at the M. E. Church at Maysville, and has resigned and again taken his old place here. The choir is now composed of the best talent in Southern Ohio.

IN THE DEPTHS.

Or a Rise to Get Rid of a Lover—Owner of the Cloak and Hat Found at the River Identified.

Cincinnati Post.

The finding of a lady's hat and cloak on the river bank at the foot of Smith street, last Friday morning, it has been discovered, belonged to a woman whose maiden name was Miss Mollie Hubbard, originally from Washington, Mason county, Ky., where her father now lives, a prosperous farmer. It will be remembered that a note found in the pocket of the cloak was dated November 23, and signed J. E. McDonald. On Saturday last the Post printed a dispatch from Maysville, stating that J. E. McDonald had been found at that place, and that the evidence pointed to him as the person referred to in the note. Our investigation shows that he was a lover of the girl. He is also from the interior of Kentucky, but for the past three months has resided in the vicinity of Ripley, O., and Maysville, Ky., the former of which places Miss Hubbard had been staying since the 21st of last September, and up until a little more than a week ago. Last September Miss Hubbard, accompanied by a gentleman, arrived in Ripley and stopped at the Latona House, the gentleman stating that he was engaged to the lady, and that they would shortly get married. He stated that they were from Maysville, Ky. His excuse for bringing the girl here was that she desired to escape the attentions of another lover. The gentleman returned to Maysville in a few days, but came occasionally to see the girl.

Meantime, the young man, J. E. McDonald, who was the obnoxious lover, arrived upon the scene, and secured employment in the neighborhood. He frequently called upon Miss Hubbard, who represented him to the hotel people as her cousin. He seemed very devoted to her. During the absence of the Maysville lover he constantly visited her apartments, and Miss Hubbard, who also called herself "Allie McDonald," to please McDonald, seemed pleased with his attentions. The Maysville gentleman, however, became derelict in his attentions, and she went to Maysville to ascertain the cause. Upon her return from the place she received a note from McDonald, which, it now appears, was the same that was found in the pocket of the cloak picked up on the bank of the river. It was dated November 23, and chided her for not loving him as she thought she should. It also inquired whether she saw Hancock while in Maysville, and if she did, what he said to her about him.

Later on Miss Hubbard became despondent. She told her landlady that she had had a quarrel with her Maysville friend, and there was no prospect of a reconciliation.

Miss Hubbard confessed that she had once been married, but claimed that she had been divorced and had her maiden name restored to her. She seemed to have been rather wayward, and drifted about in different parts of the country.

On the 28th of November she left Ripley, starting for Maysville, carrying a few clothes wrapped up in a newspaper. Since then she has not been seen. The belief prevails in Ripley that J. E. McDonald is or was something more to Miss Hubbard than a lover. When he read the account printed in last Friday's Post he was very much agitated, and, hiring a horse, was absent from town all day. He returned in the evening, and was still in a high state of agitation. To show that the girl was friendly to him he produced the following letter:

MY DEAR JIM—I have just received your very kind letter. I waited for you that morning until 12 o'clock, but you did not come. I have been thinking hard of you ever since. I am sure you are not so badly off, but I will forgive you. You say you will send for me to come. I am ready and willing to come at any time. I told you when you were here that I would be true to you and I will. You know I have always told you that, and you must not doubt my word. I love you with all my heart, and am very unhappy when away from you. Dear Jim, I want you to write to me and tell me what your trouble is about. Why didn't you tell me when you were here? You need not be afraid to tell me anything. From your true and ever loving, LITTLE ALICE.

In this she calls herself "Allie." Was she McDonald's divorced wife? All at events she seemed to keep on good terms with him, and use him at her convenience, but was anxious to marry Hancock, falling in which, and filled with despondency, she came to Cincinnati, and left evidence here of what would seem to be suicide. But the fact that her body has not been found seems strange. It is possible that the hat, cloak and letter are a ruse to get rid of McDonald and to bring Hancock to his senses. The belief prevails in Ripley that the girl came to Cincinnati and met with foul play.

Where Was Her Husband?

CHICAGO, Ill., Dec. 11.—Mrs. Tom Senant, wife of the Probate Clerk, while walking with her husband and sister Saturday evening down South Halsted street, was the victim of a daring and successful highway robbery. She was grabbed by the throat by three young thugs, who wrested from her hand a satchel, containing $100 worth of diamond jewelry and her wedding ring, and fifty-eight dollars in money. The case was suppressed by the police, who say they have a clue to the perpetrators.

Dimity's Baby Sister.

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—Mrs. Bridget Dimity, of Brooklyn, went out a few minutes to-day, leaving her youngest daughter in the house. A strange woman entered soon afterwards, and, approaching the child, placed a bundle in its arms. "I've promised a good many times," said the stranger, "to bring you a baby sister, and to-day I've kept my promise. Here she is."

BUTLER, Pa., Dec. 11.—The court house of Butler county burned Tuesday evening. It caught from a defective flue. Insurance $38,000; loss $20,000. The records are thought to be safe in the large stone vault, and court is being held in the Methodist church.

Germany's Attitude.

BERLIN, Dec. 11.—The North German Gazette editorially reiterates the statement recently made that in the event of war between France and China, Germany will remain neutral, and that she will co-operate with England to protect Europeans.

Driven by a Growl From the Lion.

CAIRO, Dec. 11.—A large body of insurgents, while advancing upon Suakin, when on the outskirts of the town, were shelled and driven back by the British gunboat Ranger.

pressed herself very grateful for the kind attention shown her and was very much pleased to meet so many of her friends.
At night she was serenaded by Haucke's band.

There is a scheme on foot to have a grand procession on Christmas day. The plan, if carried out as determined upon,
will make it the most interesting affair that ever took place in Maysville. There will be ten or twelve scenes illustrating well known Maysville features, the hog not excepted, and all on wheels. A committee will go to work to-morrow, soliciting contributions of money to aid the movement.

We have accidentally omitted mentioning the death of a distinguished personage of this community—"Old Jim,"
the horse used by Major Chenoweth in his campaigns during the war. He died on Thanksgiving day, at the ripe old age of twenty-nine years. He was an animal of fine points, remarkably intelligent,
was noted as a jumper, and on one occasion saved his owner's life, when hard pressed by the enemy, by going over a high fence that was an obstacle to the retreat. "Old Jim" took part in the Confederate parade last June, and was the recipient of many attentions from the boys, many of whom bivouaced with him during the war. He was a faithful animal, never flinched at the crack of a rifle or the bursting of a shell, and came up to roll-call on any and all occasions.
Peace to the ashes of faithful "Old Jim."

Pleasant Incident.
At the close of Professor Leary's class in book-keeping, last night, J. W. Cartmel arose and presented him an elegant silk hat, the gift of his class. Mr. Cartmel, in his presentation speech, enclosed the professor in the most flattering terms, alluding to him as a benefactor of the young men of Kentucky, asking him to accept the present as a testimonial of their friendship for him as a thorough gentleman, an eminent mathematician,
an accomplished book-keeper and an un-rivaled teacher.

The professor, on receiving the hat said:
"Mr. Cartmel and Gentlemen: On receiving this and all the presents from your hands,
I am overwhelmed with gratitude and find language inadequate to express my feelings.
The act, more forcibly than words, speak your appreciation of my efforts, and approval of my method in imparting a useful knowledge. Should I dare to receive your present in the commercial way you never limit the underlying law of perfect justice; and, no matter to what calling destiny assigns you, may the principles of commercial integrity, which I have so carefully instilled into your minds, bring forth that reward of happiness you so richly deserve. When, at last, your days of usefulness are passed, and you are called beyond this mundane sphere, may the credit balance of your life and account be so large that a boundless surplus fund of eternal glory will be declared in your behalf."

The professor spoke one-half hour in the foregoing strain, much to the enjoyment of his class. He is endeared in the hearts of his pupils here and elsewhere.
We doubt if any man of his erudition has so many warm-hearted friends. He will leave Maysville soon for a new field of labor, at Portsmouth, O., and will be followed by the heartfelt wishes of his numerous friends in Maysville.

councilman in the Third Ward, you will receive the support of MANY VOTERS.
Maysville, Ky., Dec. 11, 1883.

COUNTY POINTS.
TUCKAHOE RIDGE.
The farmers have about finished husking
corn, and a good many are through butchering.

Mrs. Susan Hiles, of Cincinnati, spent Sunday and Monday with her mother, Mrs.
Nancy Aldwell, who is dangerously ill with pneumonia.

Mr. Buck Harghey and his charming daughter, Miss Stella, of Red county, are visiting relatives in this neighborhood.

Last week W. C. Holton, while lifting a bucket of coal, in some way sprained his back. Since that time he has been confined to the house, and has suffered very much.

Miss Lizzie Mitchell, an interesting young lady of St. Louis, is the guest of the family of J. G. Bacon.

Miss Annie Perrie, of Maysville, spent last week with Miss Maggie Bacon.

Mrs. Frank Conway, of Bourbon county, and Mrs. Dr. H. W. Stewart, are visiting Mrs. L. H. Bacon.

We were glad to have James Key, of Washington, in our midst Sunday.

No birds have been seen since Maysville's sharod was on the ridge—not even a grasshopper.

The workmen have finished putting up the stone steps at the Reasley Church. They are quite an improvement.

Will Hitt's new buggy and robe have attracted the attention of a good many of our girls, and they would like to have an opportunity of examining them closer.

STOVE LICK.
Elder Keys preached at Stone Lick Sunday.
We have a new kind of religion. It gives the people the "swells."

There were a good many people from Mayslick at church at Mt. Gilead Sunday.

Mr. Tom Brown bought a tract of land the other day, consideration $1,500. Mr. Brown is welcome you wish you had bought the whole tract.

Mr. Howard Farrow, of Mt. Gilead, is building a nice drive to his house. He has also put up a large tobacco barn and a nice and lively stable.

Mr. H. Clay Stone very hospitably entertained several of his friends Sunday last.
We were among them and enjoyed the dinner exceedingly well.

If five hundred dollars will hire a man to preach one thousand dollars will hire him not to preach. Then whose servant is he—God or Mammon's?

A bachelor friend of ours being tired of
"a blue-bellied" calling upon a young lady and not having previously sent her card had to hunt her up. He will know how next time.

We are very sorry to hear of the illness of our esteemed friend, Mrs. Maggie Llynon.
We hope, however, that the only temporary,
and that she may be convalescing in a few days.

A couple of young gentlemen who were bawling of their mathematical attainments were given this riddle: "If a horse can eat a peck of bran in five minutes, how long will it take it to travel to Maysville."

without knowing it is medicine. For sale by all druggists. d12dlw

Forty years' experience, in every clime
on earth, has proved Ayer's Cherry Pectoral to be the most reliable remedy for coughs, colds, and all lung diseases. Neglected colds often become incurable ailments. Deal with them in time, and prevent their becoming deep-seated in the system.

Rescued From Death.
Wm. J. Coughlin, of Somerville, Mass., says: In the fall of 1876 I was taken with bleeding of lungs followed by a severe cough. I lost my appetite and sleep, and was confined to my bed. In 1877 I was admitted to the hospital. The doctors said I had a hole in my lung as big as a half dollar. At one time a report went around that I was dead. I gave up hope, but a friend told me of Dr. Wm. Hall's Balsam for the Lungs. I got a bottle, when, to my surprise, I commenced to feel better, and to-day I feel better than for three years past.
